

LRAPA
Lane Regional Air Protection Agency

Lane Regional Air Protection Agency
EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR
Recruitment Announcement

About the Agency

Established in 1968, the Lane Regional Air Protection Agency (LRAPA) is the local air quality authority for Lane County, Oregon. LRAPA's staff of 19 work to achieve and maintain clean air across the county. Supported by member entities of Lane County, Eugene, Springfield, Cottage Grove, and Oakridge, and guided by our nine-member Board of Directors, we play an active role in community development and planning. Despite an increase in population and traffic, the air quality for Lane County's metro area has continued to improve since our inception.

Air Quality – Lane Regional Air Pollution Agency LRAPA is responsible for assuring Lane County meets federal National Ambient Air Quality Standards set by the Clean Air Act. The agency does this by monitoring ambient air and implementing programs to protect air quality. LRAPA issues home wood heating advisories, regulates outdoor burning, responds to air quality complaints, and issues operational air permits to industrial and commercial business. LRAPA is also responsible for implementing Cleaner Air Oregon – Oregon’s Air Toxics program – in Lane County.

LRAPA supports eight government-grade monitoring sites. Two of these sites monitor for ozone, six sites monitor for Particulate Matter, and two sites monitor for Hazardous Air Pollutants. In addition, LRAPA has installed over 90 commercial grade Particulate Matter sensors throughout the county to improve public access to air quality information. LRAPA is the only local clean air agency in Oregon. The rest of the state’s air is monitored and regulated by the Oregon Department of Environmental Quality. Being local, LRAPA presents more opportunity for voices in our communities to be recognized, heard, and hold influence over decisions made regarding Lane County’s air.

LRAPA’s Board of Directors has established an Advisory Committee to advise the Board in matters pertaining to the region, particularly on methods and procedures for the protection of public health and welfare and of property, from the adverse effects of air pollution.

This volunteer committee is made up of 7-15 local Lane County residents from various backgrounds including: public health, agriculture, industry, community planning, fire suppression, and general public. Advisory Committee members serve three-year terms and can be reappointed.

Mission: To protect public health, community well-being and the environment as a leader and advocate for the improvement and maintenance of air quality in Lane County.

About the Executive Director Position

The Executive Director is responsible for strategic and inspirational leadership as well as overall operational management of LRAPA. The Executive Director serves as a key external face of the Agency, responsible for productive relationships between the Agency and the State Legislature, the Oregon Department of Environmental Quality, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), and the National Association of Clean Agencies. In addition, the Executive Director ensures that staff members are aligned with the organization's mission and vision and are working together to successfully achieve strategic objectives.

The Executive Director reports to the Board and manages the operations of a staff of 19. The position oversees the formulation, monitoring and reporting on the status of the Agency's $4.5 million annual budget.

In addition, the Executive Director:

- Provides leadership and direction to assure the effective and efficient operation of the Agency. Oversees the implementation of programs, procedures, and services that support the Agency's strategic plan.
- Creates, communicates, and sustains a vision and strategic plan that capitalizes on the Agency's internal strengths and external opportunities. Engages, motivates, and inspires a broad range of internal and external stakeholders around a shared vision and mission.
- Translates big picture vision and goals into both long and short-range plans that are comprehensive, realistic, and effective.
- Ensures the Board of Directors (BOD) are apprised of policy issues affecting LRAPA and are fully aware of key aspects of the organization's state of affairs. Supplies the BOD with appropriate information to make budget and policy decisions and provide guidance and oversight.
- Acts as Agency liaison with the Advisory Council.
- Builds the Agency's long-term financial strength and ensures fiscal accountability.
- Works with other air agencies and national partners to advocate for appropriate federal funding to meet the objectives in existing and new federal requirements.
- Creates and maintains a culture of high performance and recognition for the efforts of the team. Creates methods, techniques, and evaluation criteria for obtaining results.
- Acts as a key public spokesperson for the Agency, engaging people at all levels and doing so in a wide range of settings and through various media.
- Represents the Agency across all appropriate forums and makes presentations around the region with a focus on climate change and greenhouse gas reductions.
- Develops and maintains a culture that integrates environmental justice and equity principles into the day-to-day work and decisions of the Agency. Oversees the creation of climate policies that incorporate equity principles and reduce inequities in air pollution exposure.
- Creates a culture where information sharing, team-based resolutions, cross-training, and process improvements are encouraged, and staff is held accountable for goal achievement and results.

The Ideal Candidate

This is an exceptional opportunity for a strategic, forward-thinking leader. The ideal Executive Director candidate is a balanced leader; comfortable with managing and leading in a complex and transparent environment; and someone who is capable of building bridges internally and externally, supporting and managing change, and implementing innovative solutions to create opportunities for advancement of the Agency's strategic objectives.

LRAPA is seeking a talented and unifying leader to bring innovative ideas and management to the agency and translate big picture vision and goals into realistic plans. The ideal candidate must promote collaboration on a region-wide basis and serve as a key facilitator with elected/political leaders, business, and non-profit leaders. The overarching core competencies of this position are:

Desirable Qualifications

A bachelor's degree and at least seven years of increasingly responsible management-level experience in air pollution or other environmental control program that involves leading a diverse staff and management of significant funds and experience working in high-level policy development, grant management and community collaborations.
